Preserving the Civil War Flag of the 21st Infantry Regiment: Fundraising Campaign

THE GALA

We cordially invite you to attend a remarkable evening on January 26th at the Royal Scot Banquet Center. This Gala Fundraiser aims to support our cause and features a catered dinner, a silent auction with high-quality items, and speeches from special guests including former Lt. Governor Brian Calley, Major Christopher Buck, and Medal of Honor recipient Sammy Davis. Your presence is critical in assisting us in accomplishing our mission, ensuring that our flag is visible to all, permanently displayed in Ionia.

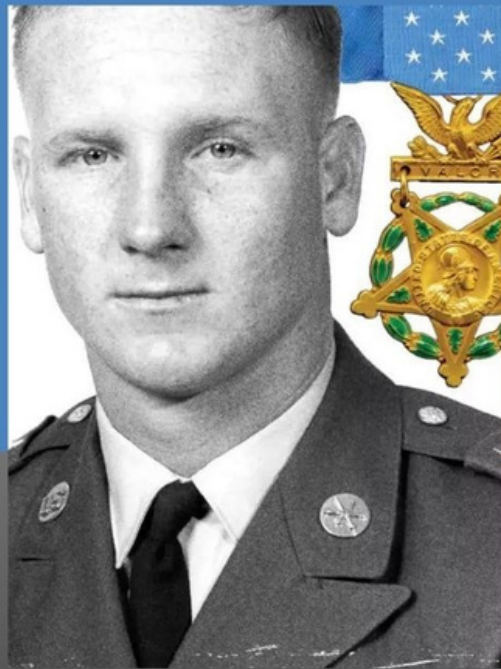

The Ionia County Courthouse is home to a significant piece of history, the battle flag of the 21st Infantry Regiment from the Civil War.

FLAG HISTORY

This silk flag was hand-embroidered and gifted by the "ladies of Ionia." It played a crucial role in the Union's victory during Sherman's march through Kentucky, Georgia, and North Carolina. The flag's return to its originators on July 4th, 1865, was a momentous occasion for the regiment, which suffered heavy casualties during the war. Since then, the flag has been displayed at the Ionia courthouse for over 160 years, bearing witness to the past.

The flag, a symbol of the past in Ionia County, is in need of restoration and conservation to ensure that it remains intact for generations to come. We invite those who share our passion for history to join us in raising $50,000 towards this effort. With your help, we can restore and preserve this unique battle flag and display it in a state-of-the-art case, safeguarding it from further damage.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Sergeant Sammy L. Davis. Davis was born in Dayton, Ohio, on November 1, 1946, and came from a long line of service members. After graduating high school in 1966, Sammy joined the Army and volunteered as an artilleryman.

While deployed in Vietnam, Davis' team was besieged by enemy forces, with their only barricade being the river between them and the enemy battalion. Taking mortar fire, Davis retaliated with his machine gun and 105mm Howitzer and operated the device despite advancing troops to cover the heavily outmanned U.S. soldiers. Sergeant Davis remained with the Howitzer even after taking damage from an enemy mortar round and fired any remaining ammunition, including a propaganda shell filled with patriotic leaflets.

Hearing struggling American soldiers across the river, Sammy, who could not swim, constructed a raft out of an air mattress from camp, paddled along the river to cover and carry several wounded soldiers to safety. Davis then aided another artillery crew after refusing medical assistance for his burns and extensive injuries. Sammy later served as a cook for his team in order to stay with his unit after hearing he was to be medically discharged and was later presented the Medal of Honor by Lyndon B. Johnson on Nov. 19, 1968. Footage of his ceremony and elements of Davis' citation were used in the 1994 film "Forrest Gump," with lead actor Tom Hanks' face superimposed on top of Sammy's.

Discover the Perfect Spot for your Senior Living Community

A Plea for Affordable Senior Living in Lansing: The Inspiring Story of the Kwicien family

Lansing's Senior Living Facilities are at an all-time low for affordability. 4360 W. State Rd is a unique property with an interesting backstory. It was purchased by Robert Kwicien in 1992 as a gift for his wife, Arlene. Robert added nine more holes to the existing 18-hole golf course as a testament to his love for Arlene who was an avid golfer. Today, both of them are in their 90s and suffer from dementia. Their son, Todd, who currently owns the property and Royal Scot Golf & Bowl, is their primary caretaker. Todd understands the high cost and low inventory of senior living in the Lansing area and has a dream to turn his parents' property into a gift for many families.

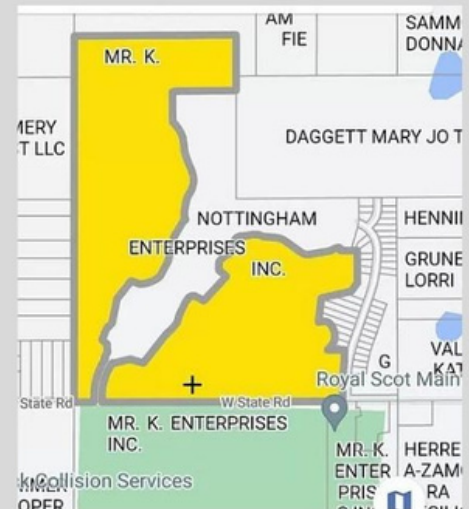

If you're in search of the perfect location for your senior living community, then 4360 W. State Rd is the place to be! This prime spot is conveniently situated across from the beautiful Royal Scot Golf Course, providing your residents with easy access to 18 holes of golf. Moreover, a 60-lane bowling center, which caters to numerous senior bowling leagues, is located just a short two-minute drive away. This location is also a stone's throw away from the freeway, a variety of restaurants, and shopping centers, making it an ideal location for your senior living complex.
